

Recent Tariffs Will Have an Impact on Roofing Prices

Due to the recent tariffs imposed on steel and aluminum, prices will escalate until the United States plants are able to produce the needed supply.

Current forecasts are very fluid at this time with no specifics on pricing. CentiMark is working with our suppliers to help minimize the impact on material shortages and help keep our pricing as low as possible.

The expected impact of these tariffs on the roofing industry is specifically for components made from steel or aluminum. Components such as:

- Fasteners
- Metal Plates (to include Rhino-Bond)
- Metal Edge
- Coping
- Gutters and Downspouts
- Metal Decking
- Termination Bars
- Tools and Equipment
